AI Engineering Mastery Program Sample Document This is a sample PDF file used for testing the AI Document Reader and Chunking pipeline. It contains multiple lines of text to simulate a real enterprise document. The goal is to extract this text, clean it, and split it into chunks for further processing such as embeddings, vector databases, and retrieval augmented generation. This document represents typical content such as technical documentation, training material, or knowledge base articles.